Dear Parents/Carers,

As part of our Frozen Planet topic, we have linked up with the Antarctic Fire Angels. This is a group of female firefighters from South Wales and Mid and West Wales who will be skiing to the south pole in November to raise funds for the Firefighters Charity and to inspire children, especially the girls, to aim high and achieve their dreams. The Antarctic Fire Angels will be coming into school to deliver an assembly and tell us all about their expedition on Thursday 19th October. To support their charity, we have decided to have a dressing up day to welcome the team and to raise money for a fantastic charity. So, the children on the 19th of October are invited to come to school dressed as polar explorers, Artic or Antarctic animals or anything along the snowy/icy theme (so I suppose we might have a few Elsas!) and pay a donation of £1. For more information about the expedition and the firefighter's charity please use the link.

We will be tracking their progress along their journey and using this as a valuable authentic learning experience.

Kind regards,

S. Martin
